

NELF Lunch Chat: Scenario Indicators in the News

Tuesday, April 21, 2020 • 11:30am • Click here to join

As we grapple with a pandemic that few anticipated would be this severe & far-reaching, we are noting the salience of scenario-planning as well as the specific scenarios you helped to develop.

We invite you to join colleagues for an informal discussion about which NELF scenario(s) you see us moving toward in these unusual and uncertain times.

We will consider questions such as:

- What indicators point towards Go it Alone?
- What indicators point towards Connected Communities?
- What is best for our communities?
 - How do we get there?

Here are some of the headlines we've noticed that inspired us to convene this discussion:

From WBUR, local vegetable farms are thriving.

From VPR, Vermont dairy farms are suffering.

From NEPR, regional coordination on transportation to reduce tailpipe emissions is continuing.

More headlines: click here!

What have you been noticing?
What have you been seeing that is not reflected in the headlines?

We welcome your additions of thoughts and headlines to our document.

Here are the scenarios in detail:
bit.ly/nelf-stories

Please contact lucylee@fas.harvard.edu with any questions. We hope to see you there!

